Introduction
Module 4 Lesson 8

When you go to another country, you might receive instructions on the airplane or in the airport in the target language. You might also need to ask about things like ticket windows, transportation, rental vehicles, reservations, where to get something to eat, or any number of other things in the airport. The people there might not understand your language so it is important that you learn to communicate in theirs. This lesson will provide you with the language you need for travel purposes.

Refreshments are served en-route and, on longer trips a simple meal is provided at a highway cafe on presentation of your ticket. When travelling up-country, it is normally necessary to book in advance.

The following evening, the overnight coach to Nakhorn Phanom passes through a large town and stops at a restaurant/coach park. This is the announcement the bus hostess makes:

Time questions

Note the difference in the following time questions:

□□□□□□□□□□□	What time does the bus leave?
□□□□□□□□□□	How many hours? How long?
□□□□□□□□□□	What time is it?

□□□□□□□□□□□□□□

□□□□ is the polite word for you normally used when addressing people of marked superior social status and □□□□□□□□□□ means passengers. So literally, the courier addresses the people on the bus as You passengers. You will hear the same expression used in public announcements at Thai airports, and the same formula used by radio announcers when they address their listeners as □□□□□□□ □□□ (□□□□□□ listener).

Verb serialization

A common feature of Thai which you will become more aware of as your knowledge of Thai increases is the tendency to string several verbs together, one after the other. The bus hostess puts three together □□□□ (to stop), □□□ (to rest), □□□ (to eat) but it is not uncommon to find as many as five or six verbs together.

You have already met both □□□ (want) and □□ (go). They are used together in the pattern □□□...□□ to mean to take. □□□... □□ means to bring. The noun put in between the two verbs may be omitted when it is clear from the context what is being referred to:

□□□□□□□□□□□□□	Take your ticket with you.
□□□□□□□	Bring the car.
□□□□□□□□□	Take it with you.

Travel
With regards to public transport, Bangkok has a comprehensive bus service with routes serving every area of the city. There are both airconditioned and non-airconditioned vehicles and although they get crowded during rush hours, they do provide an extremely cheap way of getting around town.

At the other end of the transport scale, hotel limousines and car hire are readily available.

For upcountry travel, THAI operates a domestic air service connecting Bangkok with more than 20 provincial cities and towns. On trunk routes, such as to Chiang Mai or Phuket, there are several flights daily.

Train travel is also convenient on the main northern and southern lines, and to the northeast. Air-conditioned first class sleepers are ideal for long journeys, though there are also second and third class carriages.

The most comprehensive domestic transportation network is the Government-operated long distance bus service. There is scarcely a town in the entire country which is not served either on a direct Bangkok route or a feeder service from a provincial center.

If you want to go your own way, there are many car hire firms in Thailand, including international rental companies such as Hertz and Avis. The road system is good and well signed-posted.

Immigration
Nationals from 58 countries can now stay in Thailand for up to 30 days without an entry visa. For visitors from 96 other countries, transit visas valid for 15 days may be obtained at the cost of 300 baht on arrival at any of the four airports at Don Muang (Bangkok), Chiang Mai, Phuket and Hat Yai.

Categories of visas in Thailand are: Transit, Visitor Transit, Tourist, Non-Immigrant, Immigrant and Non-Quota Immigrant. Holders of Transit, Visitor Transit and Tourist visas are not allowed to work in Thailand. A tourist who wants to have his visa extended must apply to the Immigration Bureau with the following: passport with a zerox copy, one photo, a 500-baht extension fee and the medical certificate (in case of being sick). If you overstay your visa, the penalty is a fine of 200 baht for each extra day, with a limit of 20,000 baht.
